Dear GCU Athletic Scholarship Program Decision Committee,

Imagine with me for a moment that you have not already read hundreds of letters of recommendation and take the following recommendation as a sincere and complete endorsement. As a high school teacher, NHS Student Advisor, and soccer coach I have read/written hundreds of these letters as well.

It is my pleasure to enthusiastically recommend Aislin Majoris for the GCU Athletic Scholarship Award. I have had the pleasure to coach Aislin since the Fall of 2019 when Aislin was a 7th grader on my newly formed West Jefferson Hills Middle School Girls Soccer Team and I have been her coach every Fall since then, from Middle School to Varsity Soccer.

Aislin's academic achievements are, by definition, exemplary. She has maintained a 4.5 GPA over four years of high school in a highly competitive school. In addition to her exceptional academic performance, Aislin is incredibly active in extracurricular activities and charitable pursuits (raising over $79,000 for the Leukemia & Lymphoma Society). I genuinely do not know how she manages her academic, extracurricular, charitable, religious, and family commitments but she does it with grace and class.

I could go on for days about her various achievements and accomplishments but you can refer to her application/resume to see her incredible body of work and accomplishments, but letters of recommendation are meant to describe a candidate's character. Since meeting Aislin in 7th grade I was immediately impressed by not only her tactical knowledge and technical skill in soccer but also by her "team first" mentality and leadership. Aislin is always the first player to offer praise and/or encouragement to a teammate, wrap a reassuring arm around a struggling teammate, thank a referee, and congratulate an opponent on a match well played. Aislin would make a great soccer coach, if she was interested, or a great anything she wants to be for that matter. Aislin was a natural choice as a captain of our team for the reasons listed above and so many more. She is a natural leader both on and off the pitch.

To be quite frank, Aislin is the perfect candidate to receive this prestigious scholarship. As a high school teacher, at a school drastically different demographically from Thomas Jefferson High School, a club soccer coach, and high school soccer coach I have encountered many different types of student athletes and I can honestly say that Aislin is an archetypal example of what a student-athlete can be. In all honesty, after awarding her this scholarship, you may be inclined to change the expectations of what a scholarship recipient should be as Aislin Majoris breaks all the molds and expectations of student-athlete exceptionalism.

Feel free to contact me at 412.952.5768 or matthew.mutschler@upcs.net if you have any questions or would like me to further elaborate on Aislin's talents, qualities, and/or achievements.

Sincerely,

To Whom it May Concern,

It is with great pleasure to write this letter of recommendation for Aislin Majoris, whom I have the joy of mentoring and partnering with during the 2024 Western PA/WV Student Visionaries of the Year campaign for the Leukemia and Lymphoma Society. During this time, I have had the opportunity to watch Aislin evolve not only as a leader, but as a young philanthropist in her community.

Student Visionaries of the Year is a philanthropic leadership development program and fundraising competition for exemplary high school students. As a nominated candidate, Aislin cultivated professional skills such as entrepreneurship, marketing, and project management amongst many others. Her responsibilities included leading a multigenerational team of peers and adults, planning, and executing large scale fundraisers, hosting corporate partnership meetings, and acting as a representative for LLS in her school and community.

Aislin is energetic and passionate, she understands the value of goal setting, leadership, and the importance of teamwork. I have gotten to know Aislin as a volunteer, student, and dedicated member of her community. She is focused, determined, and has a willingness to continually push herself to go above and beyond the task at hand to reach her goals.

Aislin demonstrated impeccable time management between her academics, extra curriculars and volunteering. She never once let any potential hurdles stop her from achieving her goal of raising funds for LLS's mission. Her relentless motivation and commitment contributed to the great continued successes of her campaign.

It is an absolute pleasure working alongside Aislin. I look forward to seeing her continue to excel in her next venture. Aislin would be a great addition to the incoming class of visionaries at your institution.

Thank you for your time and consideration.

For the Cure,

Erica Gribbin
